Lena Maude is known for her quirky presence that is both extremely playful and deeply serious. She crafts music that moves between indie folk and ethereal experimental pop with fingerstyle guitar, wide-ranging vocals, looping textures, and any object makes a sound. Her booky lyrics blend nature, myth, and the tender condition of being alive.

For a 7 year cycle in the far north Lena contended with the Self and 'burnout'. Toting a large repository of unheard songs, Lena hit the road during winter of 2024-25 on the Change Everything You Know personal tour. She shed beliefs and belongings to make way for a happier way of being.

With roots in Michigan DIY scenes, Lena is currently based in Colorado working on her next releases including a folk album titled Tender. Listeners are invited along for the journey of exploring the deeply meaningful with a touch of big-picture humor.
